

Top Cow's First Exclusively-Digital Graphic Novel

Written by Betsy Gonia

Tuesday, 28 August 2012 15:24 - Last Updated Wednesday, 29 August 2012 06:03

Top Cow's First Exclusively-Digital Graphic Novel

For the first time ever, Top Cow is publishing an exclusively-digital original graphic novel, Manifestations. Better yet, you can pick up your copy starting today!

Written and drawn by critically acclaimed author of Epic Kill and Devoid of Life Raffaele Ienco, Manifestations is a self-contained full color supernatural thriller sure to please any reader with its many twists and turns.

"I'm a big fan of supernatural thrillers like The Sixth Sense, so I really wanted to create a graphic novel with great twists and turns that keeps the reader guessing, where you don't want to put the book down because you just want to read one more page," says Ienco.

Manifestations tells the tale of Alice Rackham, a timid 10-year-old girl who can reach into "the dark space" and return spirits to the world of the living. Sometimes Alice bring back the spirits of recently departed relatives or pets, but sometimes she brings back the spirits of unspeakable things that don't belong in the living world.

You can pick your digital copy of the 126-page OGN Manifestations at ComiXology for the amazingly low price of $4.99!

If you can't wait for more heart-pounding action after reading Manifestations, have no fear, Top Cow and Content House are working together to bring you a Manifestations movie!

"I'm a huge fan of Ienco's work on Epic Kill and am really excited to be working with the guys at Content House on this project," says Top Cow's president Matt Hawkins.

Don't be left behind on this amazing thriller; pick up you copy of Manifestations today!