The fantastical continuation of The Darkness is out on April 24th, with issue #112!

On the verge of adolescence, Jackie's daughter Hope is following in her father's footsteps and is starting to grow into the young lady that she was always destined to become. But there is Darkness in her blood. And when she wanders into the woods alone, surrounded by things that go bump in the night, Hope wonders if she is the creature to actually fear.

Too curious to wait and see the issue until Wednesday? Then check out the preview below!
